(Channeling begins)

Djwhal Khul here. Tashi Delek.

Today’s Spirituality Article is “Sensitivity into Sensibility”. We are in a configuration here where there will be heightened sensitivity to everything: what’s going on around you emotionally, environmentally, even on a global scale, what’s occurring in the Heavens, even solar flares making you disoriented momentarily and other cosmic occurrences coming from the Milky Way. So a heightened sensitivity will be with us for about four weeks.

During that time, I suggest you take the sensitivity as further spiritual development, and then create a sensible way of using the material, or the data, or what's occurring with you. For example, if you are feeling earthquakes and volcanoes, and some of you do, you are that sensitive, then what you want to do with it is turn it into something rational and with the mind. In other words, instead of thinking "Oh my goodness, there is something wrong with my balance" that you can actually stop for a moment and see if you can make any sense out of what is happening if you go outside of yourself into a more cosmic scale.

You may want to track solar activity or galactic activity, www.weather.com, www.space.com, places like that, where you can kind of see those things. Or look at volcanic activity, hurricane activity will also be very, very high, as well as more flooding and a few other things.

So take the sensitivity as a training and a spiritual development and make sense out of what is happening rather than taking it personally.

Alright, dear ones. This has been your Spirituality Article Information for this week and the archive of articles are all transcribed and available on the website if you want to read those. As always, thank you and my love to you,

Djwhal Khul
