And here is Djwhal Khul’s latest Spirituality Article, information complimentary every Thursday:

(Channeling begins)

Djwhal Khul here. Tashi Delek.

Alright. We are going to begin with a violet flame fully engulfing the body. We see a violet flame coming up from the Earth completely engulfing the body and the entire auric field as well, so out quite a long way. I would say give it about 30 feet in all directions, 30 feet all around you, 30 feet above your head and 30 feet below your feet.

So you want to see this very, very large violet flame, transmuting and transforming the energies. This is a good exercise during the entire time that we are having this Mercury Retrograde.

Now, just a note that in the Quarterly Forecast I made a note that this would be a very strenuous and difficult Mercury Retrograde. It still is. It is from May 6 through to May 30 but anticipate that the energies will continue to be difficult for about another week beyond that. This is very important to make sure data is backed up, computers, cell phone numbers, batteries are replaced, put fresh batteries in things, maybe a computer back-up. All of those things are very, very important right now. So be watchful of those types of things.

Then also note that it is a good time to be especially careful about how you communicate and what you communicate. Generally speaking, most people will not be able to process more than one thing, so if you ask for two things in one sentence, they will hear one but not the other, or they will hear neither because the second one put them on overload.

So I would say it is a good time if you are asking a question "Oh by the way where did you leave the trowel and do you know where the rake is also?" Just say "Now where is the rake?" and let them respond and say "By the way, have you seen the trowel?"

So split things up. Very, very important.

Alright then. This has been my Spirituality Article information for this week. As always, thank you and my love to you,

Djwhal Khul
