(Channeling begins)

Djwhal Khul here. Tashi Delek.

Alright. We are on a New Moon energy which is a half way point between the Full Moon of Christ and the Full Moon of Wesak. So it is a week, if you will, starting technically with April 14, a week of letting go of that which no longer serves you. That can be things or possessions, it can be habits or patterns, it can be a number of things. So a good time for self examination. Or you may just simply be aware that you always have a specific pattern that operates, maybe a fear program or sadness or any other kind of pattern that you are aware of. This is a very good time to let it go. It is also a very easy time to let it go.

We are moving as well into a time where the physical body can very rapidly transform and you may have been finding yourself motivated to make some changes. So I would say go ahead and follow your intuition and prepare for the Wesak Full Moon.

Now Wesak is really kind of New Years for World Servers. It is day 1 of an annual cycle where you make a resolution, you make a commitment to serve or you make a commitment to clear old belief systems, prejudice, hatred, fear, anything that causes pain or that is not in divine order. You might also just say "I really want to protect the environment" or "I really want to help wildlife" or "I really want to serve humanity." So it is a time to come into the sense of your dharma, or your sense for being, and sometimes silence is the best way to do this.

Those of you with whom I work directly on the inner planes, I have been guiding you to have a little more alone time, more quiet time, you know, do activities by yourself. Instead of a helper in the kitchen, you just feel like making it by yourself, or you want to kind of meditate into the soup or touch each piece of lettuce with love, that sort of thing. So you have been probably a bit more naturally inward and that would be right on target for this upcoming auspicious moon.

We do have the Sacred Wesak experience open. It will be a call, a Tele-Seminar. A very, very deep meditation and journey, really, a Merkeba journey to the Valley of Wesak. So if you are interested in that, you can visit the website and join that call. If you are one of the VIPs getting All Calls, you will automatically get the codes for that.

Now I leave you with one other thought here, which is to focus on what you want your existence to be. In other words, if you have money troubles and you want financial freedom, focus on how it feels to be financially free, how your body posture is, how you wake up in the morning, how you go to sleep at night, how you pay bills. What energies and emotions are sort of embedded in the old experience and what emotions and feelings are maybe as delightful, joyous, in the new sensation.

So I would encourage you very much to look at the old way that you are letting go. Focus on what you do want in the new way and that would be any aspect of your life that you are choosing to transform now.

Alright. As always, thank you and my love to you,

Djwhal Khul
