And here is Djwhal Khul’s latest Spirituality Article, information complimentary every Thursday:

(Channeling begins)

Djwhal Khul here. Tashi delek. A very warm Tibetan welcome to you.

I want to begin with a comment about the evolution of humanity. Humanity is at a pivotal point regarding how they treat the past and how they treat the present moment which will then alter the future. So I want to maybe give a few classic examples. We certainly know the definition of insanity is repeating the same behavior expecting a different outcome. So essentially humanity is at that point. Will it just simply have history repeating itself or will there be some modifications?

Now this has to do with ways of communicating, mediums used to convey messages, reframing sentences so there is a peaceful way of stating it rather than a violent way of stating it, that sort of thing.

And then there is also the factor that global finances and how that old pattern repeating itself always comes, well, it creates the same pattern that keeps repeating itself, it just depends upon where you are in the repeating pattern. So we are still looking at a couple more days here of the strongest energies affecting the stock market. You're looking at that and saying "Well, everything is going up, everything is good." Look around the globe. Look at other countries. Look at other stock markets.

Look at just people you know and what their spending patterns are now and how they have changed and what their debt levels are. Because debt levels are the thing I am looking at next in terms of how this very delicate... Well spending levels and debt levels globally, country to country. How those really form a domino effect.

So in the evolution of humanity we are looking for this rather enlightened response to want to have a global balance or maybe you can take it just back right into your own home: have the household finances balanced, have maybe your city or local region balanced, etc. So, and then taking it on each level up there until it reaches the global level.

So lightworkers, world servers, I'd say put before you perhaps a very simple prayer for the evolution of humanity into financial balance.

All right, thank you and my love to you,

Djwhal Khul
