(Channeling begins)

Djwhal Khul here. Tashi Delek.

Alright. We're certainly seeing quite an escalation of things going on, so I do have some comments here.

This time period is really, kind of again, coming around on that loop of Creation where history repeats itself, at least to some degree. It can be a higher rung of that old, you know, it doesn't have to be an exact loop. It can be spiraling upwards, which it is. But this is what I would call "Lemuria being revisited now".

The time period Lemuria, was prior to Atlantis. It was a very interesting battle really between the light and the dark, and a battle to save Humanity, save the planet.

There were those called the electrical ones and they were invaders basically. They had devices that created what you would probably call spontaneous combustion. So it was electrical, hot itchy, angry. It also translates into what is going on in the modern world, rebelling against greed and corruption, even in a peaceful way. So we have the good doers and the greedy ones or whatever. So it is a light versus dark replay going on right now.

The good news is the good ones won and you can expect that again, eventually. The not so good news is that I think we'll be seeing more heavenly interference: asteroids, space junk, that sort of thing, solar flares again heating up the body. Very important to keep electrolytes in your system. Watch your children. Watch your pets. They may also be getting very heated up inside, particularly so the brain feeling too hot or the body becoming flushed easily.

And then the other comment that I have is that the Lemurian time period was well known for what we call implants. Specifically kind of a way of tracking; they were tracking devices. They were used for spying basically. So that element of history repeating itself is also prevalent now, in some form or another. The tracking and the spying, not necessarily implants.

So as a lightworker what I would suggest you do is focus on the positive, avoid getting overheated or angry. Focus on what you do want. Actively dream a better world. Actively partake in creating a better world.

In other words, action in the direction that you want to go. Maybe even kind of brainstorm with others of like mind. If you're in a position that is influential in some way of changing the world then by all means make changes for the better.

Alright that concludes our Spirituality Article information for this week. As always, thank you and my love to you,

Djwhal Khul
