Djwhal Khul here. Tashi Delek.

We are at a major shift. This Super Moon over the weekend along with a lunar eclipse and the Sun entering Aquarius is sort of, well I want to say, the ball that is kicked at the start of the game and it is going to, like a football, is going to tumble high through the air and where exactly it lands you won't know until it is about to land so from a spiritual perspective you want to prepare for that and then navigate through it.

So your life is pretty much going to look like a kick-off basically. Government affairs, world affairs, other important issues are all going to be that sort of tumbling through the air. Where will it land? When will it end? How will it be? Is everything going to be okay or not okay? So that element of the unknown is also highly present.

Remember that all levels of the consciousness is programmable. So you can talk to your body, you can talk to health, you can talk to your bank account, you can talk to the air molecules, you can communicate through the ethers about what kind of world you want to live in, you know, peaceful, open arms, immigrants welcome, people helping people, feed people that need food, give water to people that need water and animals that need water, etc.

So this is a very good time to put in all of your well wishes and focus on what you do want. Where you want the ball to land, so to speak. On a more personal level, certainly, again "I choose health" "I choose wealth", "I choose happiness", "I choose the perfect living place or the perfect relationship partner" whatever it is. So lots of positive thinking. Lots of positive affirmations. Write them down. Perhaps even make a collage because images are very important and may also help program the cellular structure.

Alright Dear Ones. As always, thank you and my love to you.
