And here is Djwhal Khul’s latest Spirituality Article:

(Channeling begins)

Djwhal Khul here. Tashi Delek. (pronounced Tash-ee De-lay with a soft “k” at the end)

All right. Let’s begin with a violet flame coming up through the body, from the Earth. A beautiful transforming violet flame! The violet flame can be used quite effectively for clearing the energy field. It also has a quality of reorganizing at the molecular level. The reorganization is something that is quite handy, if you will, when you’ve got a lot of stress or there are many details to attend to and especially so when you have a lot of tasks to complete, etc.

Now I am going to be using that violet flame also as an immune booster in its reorganizing quality. I am working specifically transmitting or broadcasting a product called “Violet Fire Transformation” and the aura spray. You can get that at www.SonoranLight.com if you are interested or you want to read more about it.

All right so violet flame coming up and first what we want to do is transform or let that fire sort of burn away any congestion, any stuck energy, any chi that is not moving in the body. And sort of breathe the fire upward through the body. It’s sort of a cool fire; it feels kind of good, like dancing flames coming up and sort of ribbons of violet coming through the body there.

And sometimes you can move your hands with it. If you feel that you have a little congestion in the chest or something, you can actually sweep like your finger tips have very long violet rakes coming out of them and you can rake upward, scraping through the body, bring it up and out through the top of the head, or maybe just directly up and out the top of the shoulder. We are definitely working with a sweeping upward motion for this particular function.

Now what we are going to do is work with the reorganization and if you want to go more into detail about that you can look into the 7th Ray Attunement™. All 12 Ray Attunements™ are available on the website at www.TerriNewlon.com. You can learn a little bit more by reading about that as well.

Now the violet fire transformation in conjunction with Saint Germain is something now that I am sending outward so that you will be receiving it as you review this message; you will get it right at that moment. It is going to spiral up, again, from the earth, spiraling up through the body, sort of reorganizing the cellular structure at the molecular level, kind of putting everything back into Divine Order, if you will. There. Good.

It also should feel calming to you. If you need more calming at this particular time, lavender oil would be the other thing that I suggest and I am quite fond of the Young Living products that you can find, or any other high quality lavender oil, just a drop of that. You can try a drop or even the tiniest little bit right on the 3rd eye center, particularly on the brow point, where one tends to frown when they're worried about things or trying to get things done quickly, right there, for calming effect. You can also put it right on the solar plexus.

All right so this violet fire transformation, we would like to invite Saint Germain to work with you and also you can offer to work with him, offer to help him work with transformation in various parts of the world. That is a very good team to be on.

All right everyone. One final thing here with the immune boost. We are going to take 7th Ray Violet energy and just request that it go toward strengthening your immune system. And of course you can do that several times per day, particularly if you are out in public and you are around people who are coughing or something. Just make that very simple request that the 7th Ray Violet be directed towards strengthening or boosting your immune system now.

All right dear ones. As always, thank you and my love to you

Djwhal Khul
