

"Love Always Prevails"

February 16, 2012

(Channeling begins)

Djwhal Khul here. Tashi Delek.

We are in a time period where one might be questioning love. This could be whether or not another truly loves you, or whether or not you find depth of love within you.

Since love is the construct of this Universe, and likewise the lesson being learned by all of Creation existing within it, we view this opportunity as a chance to reinforce a few simple truths.

Love is the strongest emotion and the strongest healing power that exists.
Love is the very core and construct of your being, as well as all other aspects of Creation.
Love always prevails (also said as Love Never Fails).
Please take a moment to feel these words.

Those of you in the World Servers Broadcast will be practicing sending and receiving love as this week's focus. You might find the dream plane to be a place to practice this under adverse conditions, past or future. In the present reality, endeavor to experience positive expressions of love frequently and deeply.

Alright dear ones. As always, thank you and my love to you,

Djwhal Khul
