(Channeling begins)

Djwhal Khul here. Tashi Delek.

Alright. I've noted that March could be quite a tough month financially and now what I'm seeing is a convergence of shifts... shifts in the political realm, the financial realm and the religious realm.

This particular sort of convergence, if you will, of shifts, is going to be rather interesting. This is a time frame where individuals rise to power. So it is time to put your order in, so to speak. For example, you may want politicians who serve the people. You may want religions to be peaceful with other religions. You may choose balanced finances or fair finances, something of that nature.

So essentially what we have here are religious leaders, politicians and financiers, all of these people sort of trying to do things and it's just gelling and going nowhere or it's going in circles. There appears to be movement but it's not productive movement, or not going in a new direction.

What is called for is the will of the people on a global level, because this is the Year of Global Community, to put their orders in. To sign petitions, make phone calls and send emails. Again input from the people that tells the leaders what direction to go in. This is the time for the voices to be heard.

So we are in a required shift and a convergence of shifts. Anytime there is that much change going on there tends to be some confusion, some resistance and a number of other things. Just get clear within your own consciousness about what you do want and then if you are able say what you want. Start talking about it and start sending proper notices.

Alright Dear Ones, thank you and my love to you.
